Grant and Lincoln.

The Sun says: Many of the cultivated and eloquent writers and orators, who, during the last few weeks, have exalted the history and services of General Grant, have fallen into the error of representing him as the special savior of the Union in its conflict with the powers of slavery and secession. It is a natural mistake that the hero of the hour eclipses all other heroes, for his exploits fill the imagination and gain splendor and importance as they are told; but it is now time to insist upon the truth. This is, that the man who above all other men saved the Union was Abraham Lincoln. Had he not been an incomparable politician, a keen manager of men, Lincoln could hardly have brought the war to a victorious end. More dexterous or more successful politics never were seen than that by which he carried through Congress the constitutional amendment prohibiting slavery, nor was there ever keener calculation of consequences than he displayed in the erection of Nevada as a State for the purpose of ratifying this amendment and making it permanently effectual.

A Conflict of Land Authorities.

The General Land Office has received information that Judge Dendy, of the U. S. Circuit Court at Oregon, has decided that pre-emption entries can only be canceled by proceedings in the courts. It has been the practice of the Land Office to cancel such entries upon proof of non-compliance with law or want of good faith on the part of the pre-emptor. Acting Commissioner Walker has officially informed his informant that the practice and views of law followed and entertained in the General Land Office will not be changed before the Supreme Court of the United States shall have had an opportunity of passing upon the points raised by Judge Dendy.

The Chronicle says Hon. George W. Cassidy has not been "left" quite so badly as some of his friends feared that he might be. Besides securing for Mr. Skillman (his partner in the Eureka Sentinel) the Revenue Collectors'hip, he has obtained for himself the office of Bank Inspector for Nevada California and Oregon. Salary about $5,000 a year; traveling expenses paid; duties, delightfully light. The Chronicle extends its congratulations to the Sentinel.

The New York Herald says:

The Democratic party carried the election on certain promises of reform, which it is bound to keep or else go to disgraceful and lasting defeat. The President, against the will of, as we believe, only a small part of the party, is honestly trying to redeem the party's promises. He and his Cabinet remain faithful to the party's engagements; and that is well for them. Nothing would be more fatal to the good name of the President and his Cabinet than to succumb, under any pressure whatever, to the demands of the office-seeking brigade.

The arrests have been made of members of a criminal society which has been operating in Rome, Naples and Spoleto. A search of a house of a member of the society, a former Government official, revealed the fact that correspondence had been carried on with agents in New York for the sale to Americans of Italian girls who had been bought for small sums in the southern provinces. [The prices asked ranged from £40 to £80.

The soldiers' monument at Atlanta is to have statues of Grant, Lee, Johnston and Sherman around the base of the column. Near the top will be two soldiers, the blue and the gray, clasping hands, and above the globe that crowns the summit will be the Goddess of Liberty. The structure will be 180 feet in height and will cost $100,000.

Senator Stanford has established a school on his ranch at Mayfield, Santa Clara county, for the purpose of educating the young men employed there.

NOT WORTH TALKING ABOUT

The annexed is from the Carson Free Lance:

The streets of Carson daily are lined with thousands of teams from the country. Business houses are thronged with customers. The V. & T. R. R. shops, the box factory and a score of other manufacturing houses have more than they can do for years to come. There is not even standing room for the Nevada Democrats in the Mist, and it is said that there are five millions of idle dollars in that Carson institution. There are several hundred thousand dollars in the State Treasury that Uncle George doesn't know how to dispose of to the advantage of his adopted city. There are a few thousand people here who have business of great moment to talk about, and will make more millions out of their prospective schemes than Colonel Sellers expected to make out of his famous water. If it should be attempted, it would take a thousand ox teams to haul to Reno the U. S. Mint. The State Prison is sure and steady, for it is founded upon a rock. The U. S. Postoffice is coming here sure, and, like Mark Twain's frogs watching for the railroad, we Carson people purpose to set upon the fence and croak and see its construction go on. As for the proposed Indian school it's bound to be located in Carson, for there is not another place on the Pacific Coast where the Administration would dare to locate it for fear Carson would rebel again the government. And as to the Orphans' Home, the V. & T. R. R. shops, the box factory, and all such small fry enterprises, why bless your soul, they are not a drop in the bucket. Now what's the use of talking, you don't know Carson. Even the four newspapers of Carson can't find type-stickers enough, though they pay their skilled mechanics enormous salaries, ranging all the way from $10 to $50 per month. There is not ink enough to be had in San Francisco to print the required copies of these newspapers for our citizens who thirst for the latest dispatches from the East. And now some insignificant crank newspaper suggests a ten thousand dollar monument to General Grant, and presumes to insult the public by offering to head the subscription list with $100. Oh! this tires our patience, this wasting precious printer's ink, and in these rushing business times it's a matter too silly to talk about.

Neither Elko, Winnemucca nor Reno would have the capital if she could get it. True, a Grant monument should be located at the capital of the State and could never be moved when once located there; true, it would tend to make Nevada's patriotic sons think more of themselves and the capital of their State, but then Carson is in a valley which all the king's army can't pull up, and just see how easily we captured the State University and the Insane Asylum! Carson as the capital is as sure as the everlasting hills that surround the city.

Besides the Pacific Coast Pioneers and the Independent Order of Red Men have adopted resolutions concerning Grant, and these have been printed; nearly every one of the twenty-six newspapers in Nevada have draped their columns in mourning and said real pretty things about the dead hero; and if the children of future generations want to find out that we Nevadans felt bad when Grant died, and that as our nation's savior we honor him and wish to perpetuate his memory, let them hunt up the files of these influential cosmopolitan newspapers. Then they will see we did feel real bad. Let the little New York City papers fool away their time and insult their readers, if they wish, in urging the people to raise a million dollars for the Grant monument in Riverside Park; let the Chicago Tribune and the San Francisco papers waste ink in getting erected hundred thousand dollar Grant monuments in their respective cities, we Carson papers have more important business on hand, and something to talk about of more vital interest to the public weal. The proposition to raise a Grant monument in Carson is dead—Requiescat in Pace.

Lincoln's Pallbearers.

There were twenty-two pallbearers at President Lincoln's funeral twenty years ago. Of the number seven only are living—General Simeon Cameron, Elihu B. Washburne, Colonel H. G. Worthington, the Hon. Green Clay Smith, Alexander H. Coffroth, the Hon. Henry L. Dawes and John Conness. The dead pallbearers are; Lafayette S. Foster, Edwin D. Morgan, Reverdy Johnson, Richard Yates, Ben F. Wade, Schuyler Colfax, General U. S. Grant, General Henry Wager Halleck, General W. A. Nichols, Admiral David G. Farragut, Admiral W. B. Shubrick, Colonel Jacob Zeiler, Orville H. A PUKE LAW SUIT.

The Ownership of Disputed Property to be Determined by Indian Judges.

The Silver State says: Last Spring Tom Naches, a brother of Chief Naches and the Princess Sarah Winnemucca, died at Pyramid Lake Reservation, where he had resided for some years. He had a ranch on the reservation, several horses and three houses. Naches and Sarah Winnemucca claim two of the houses, alleging that they furnished the money to buy the lumber used in building them. Tom's widow denies their claim, and refuses to let them remove the houses to their ranch on Big Meadows. Naches appealed to Agent Gibson, who suggested that three Indians be chosen by the parties to try the case. This was agreed to by Naches and Tom's widow, and two weeks from next Thursday the trial will take place at the reservation. Each of the parties are expected to produce evidence in support of their claim to the two houses in dispute, after which the judges will decide to whom the property belongs.

State Land Office.

During the past week 3,080 acres were applied for—principally grazing lands in the three northern counties, viz: Elko, Humboldt and Washoe. Nearly all former contractors for State lands are availing themselves of the privileges in our new land law, by exchanging their old contracts for new ones. Computation of the interest, preparation of new papers, correspondence through the mails, etc., involving labor preliminary to issuance of substitute contracts keeps busy the entire force of the office.

WASHOE—HUMBOLDT.

The Boundary Line Between the Two Counties.

County Surveyor Bridges has made the subjoined report of his work in running the boundary line between Washoe and Humboldt counties:

To the Honorable, the Board of County Commissioners of Washoe County, Nevada.

GENTLEMEN:—In pursuance of an order of your Honorable Board, directing the survey and establishment of the boundary line between the counties of Humboldt and Washoe, I have the honor herewith to submit my report of the work of establishing said line in compliance with said order.

On the 27th day of July, 1885, I reached the initial point named in your order, to-wit: A point on the boundary line between the States of Oregon and Nevada, marked "270 miles," situated 28 chains east of the corner of Sections 13, 18, 19 and 24, in Township 47 north, and between Ranges 23 and 24 east, and 29 chains and 90 links north of said corner. From the initial point thus established I run south between said Ranges 23 and 24, one hundred and thirty-eight miles and eight chains to the 40th parallel of north latitude. At each and every mile along the line thus established, I erected substantial monuments as directed, and also at the crossings of all roads, and upon the summits of all prominent mountain peaks. The accompanying map will more fully explain the line and its relation to the adjoining county. A copy of this report and also a copy of the accompanying map will be delivered to the Commissioners of Humboldt county, and a copy of the map deposited with the Secretary of State at Carson City. Hoping the work will meet your approval, I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

E. L. BRIDGES,
County Surveyor.

THE WILLOW CREEK MINES.

A Rich District and Inviting Field For Capital.

The Silver State says: The Wild Deer mine, at Willow Creek, owned by McColley & McLeran, bids fair to be one of the best properties in Northern Nevada. It is prospected by shafts and tunnels to a considerable depth, and the lead is strong and carries rich ore in the lower works. From one-fourth to one-third of the assay value of the ore is gold and the balance silver, and it is remarkably free from base metals. Occasionally streaks of very rich ore are found in the lead, specimens of which assay as high as $2,100 in gold and $9,500 in silver to the ton, but the average battery assay is about $80 to the ton.

The owners of the Wild Deer mine had to encounter the usual difficulties of opening mines experienced by men of limited means. Considerable work had to be done and much money expended before anything was realized from the ore, and were it not for the energy and perseverance of H. H. McColley, the Wild Deer, instead of being valuable property to-day, would be nothing but a prospect. As it is, considerable money has to be expended in building a road from the mine to the mill, and in opening tunnels to the lead to save the expense of hoisting the ore through a shaft, but as the lead has every indication of permanency and the ore is rich, the owners are warranted in making the outlay, as it will reduce expenses materially.

The Willow Creek mines, as they are usually called, are in Rebel Creek district, and were first brought into prominence by the discovery of the Ohio lead. This was purchased by J. J. O'Toole, of Salt Lake City, a mining man of much experience, and it is now owned by the Ohio M. & M. Co. The rich ore extracted in opening up this mine is shipped to Salt Lake City for reduction, and the proceeds are said to be sufficient to pay all expenses. The second-class ore is piled on the dump, to be worked when the company build a mill, as they contemplate doing shortly. The custom in many parts of Nevada has been to build a mill first and find a mine afterwards, but the Ohio company is not conducting business by this rule, as they are developing their mine before they build a mill.

There are numerous mining locations in Rebel Creek district, many of which show rich croppings, but like the Wild Deer, it requires considerable capital to develop them, and as that is a thing their owners lack, the mines are undeveloped and will be until capital is attracted to the district.

Murderous Washoes.

Naches says the Piutes have just learned that one of their tribe, a boy about 15 years of age, was murdered by the Washoes on Clear Creek, south of Carson. He is supposed to have been killed by the same band of Washoes who killed a Piute at Carson a year ago. Naches declares were it not for the fear of killing white people and destroying their property, the Piutes would at once go on the warpath, and punish the Washoes severely for murdering members of their tribe.

The Skating Rink.

Miss Fan El Fitz, America's most graceful skater, will be at the Rink this evening and gives an exhibition. Her biographical sketches indicates that she is only 18 years old, and that from her childhood she has evinced a passionate fondness for outdoor life, and those sports and games usually monopolized by boys. She rides, shoots, swims and rows and skates, and dresses in the richest costumes, unique and elegant in design.
